

Mississippi Relay for Speech Disability

Full telephone accessibility for people who have a speech disability

Speech-to-Speech (STS)

“ I feel more confidence in talking over the phone. ”

711 or 800-852-2395

Mississippi Relay Re-voices What You Say

People with a speech disability, or those who use a voice synthesizer, can use their own voice on a STS relay call.

How does STS work?

- 1 The STS user speaks directly to the other caller.
- 2 The relay operator repeats the STS user's spoken words if needed.
- 3 The other caller talks directly to the STS user.

Hearing Carry-Over (HCO)

“ Now I can make my own phone calls without having to depend on someone else. ”

711 or 800-582-2233

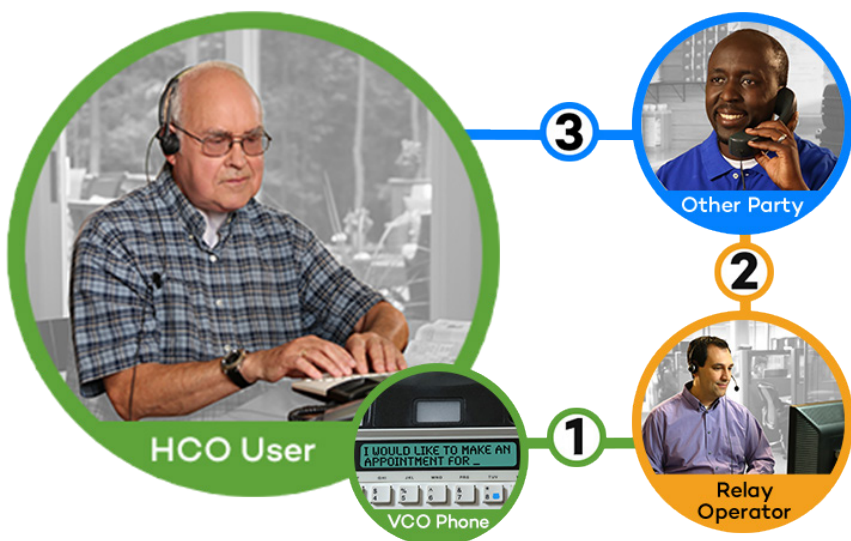

Mississippi Relay Reads Aloud While You Type

Hearing Carry-Over (HCO) is a service for a person who is unable to speak. It allows them to listen to the other caller while typing their words on a TTY for the relay operator to read aloud to the other caller.

How to contact a person who has a speech disability

1. Dial 711 (or 800-855-1000) You will hear “Mississippi Relay Operator #1234 (each relay operator has a unique identification number) may I have the number you are calling please?”
2. Give the relay operator the area code and telephone number you wish to call and any further instructions.
3. Let the relay operator know that you are speaking with an STS or HCO user.
4. When the caller answers the call, the relay operator will voice what the HCO caller types or may revoice what the STS caller says.
5. Speak directly to your caller.
